CASE STUDIES

Margaret Rosomund Welch

AGE: 70

Margaret reverted to Islam along with her husband when her neighbours invited the couple to the Deen almost 10 years prior. Unfortunately she had passed away at Royal London Hospital and her body is still yet to be released from the mortuary as the cause of her death is still yet to be determined by the Coroners. Her distraught husband sought help from their neighbours and in turn made contact with the Muslim Burial Fund requesting burial support as the couple were on a low income and cared for each other. They were a childless couple and were reliant on the goodwill of their muslim neighbours and the support of social services.

Hussein Aly Mahmoud

AGE: 61

Hussein was found dead in his home after the police gained entry by force, almost a week after being reported missing. Hussein was Egyptian and lived alone with no family here in the UK. He stopped working in a petrol station a few years after having a heart operation. His few friends were concerned for his safety as he was not answering his phone nor did they have his address to go and physically check on his welfare. Hussein's family in Egypt fortunately provided his address and with the support of the police, his body was discovered in his home, already in a state of decay. Hussein's friend was distraught and reached out to MBF requesting burial support.

Fatima Ahmed

AGE: 90

Fatima passed away at her family home, she was 90 years old and originally from Somalia. Fatima had previously suffered from a stroke and her daughter was her main carer. Her family had been frantically trying to arrange their mothers burial before the council offices closed for the Easter Bank Holiday weekend. It almost seemed that Fatima's funeral would not take place until the following week as the family had been wrongly informed about which local authority would be issuing the documents required for burial.

After much perseverance, the Muslim Burial Fund assisted Fatima's family in securing the paperwork required for their mother's speedy Muslim burial. Our charity also arranged for the funeral directors to attend her home immediately and to begin preparations for her Muslim burial. Alhamdulillah, Fatima was laid to rest at a nearby Muslim cemetery within 2 days after passing away.
